The political commissar of the Militia Section for Sofia and Vicinity is Maj Slavcem /Slavcho? Dimitriev, also a prevar Communist. He participated in /several words apparently omitted from the original showed himself to be a real murderer of the Serbs.

In this section there are 28 additional officers and about 50 noncommissioned officers. A large number of these officers were sent to take courses given for the militia by high Soviet officer specialists in the Soviet Union or Bulgaria.

This section is located in Sofia on Moskovska Ulitsa, which is also the location of the central prison of the National Militia. The section consists of the following units:

- a. One battalion of cavalry, commanded by Captain Stoykov (?). This battalion consists of three troops, which are stationed throughout Sofia. One troop is stationed in barracks on Ulitsa Sofronovski. The other two battalions sic/ are stationed in large barracks on Bulevard Slivnitsa. Each troop consists of 100 men. The soldiers are armed with rifles, sabers, and pistols. One troop is also armed with light automatic weapons.
- b. Twelve militia stations. As is known, Sofia is divided into 12 districts. Each of these districts has its commissariat; the chief of each commissariat is a militia officer. At each commissariat there are six agents of the political police to check on the inhabitants of the district. In addition to these agents, there are 125 militiamen in each district, armed with rifles, pistols, and light and heavy machine guns.
- c. One company of traffic police. This company consists of 150 women, who are used for maintaining communications in Sofia. They are armed with pistols and light automatic weapons (short Soviet sutomatic rifles). They are billeted in the large police barracks on Bulevard Slivnitsa.
- d. One tank company. This company is equipped with ten tanks of German origin which were left behind after the surrender of the German forces in Bulgarian territory. These tanks are used in emergencies. They are frequently seen being paraded through the streets of Sofia.

Militia Section for Internal Affairs

The chief of the Militia Section for Internal Affairs is Col Boris Churvenchev Tsurventsev?, a former corporal in the prewar Bulgarian Army. He has been a member of the Communist Party since before the war. During the war he was one of the best couriers and links between the Yugoslav and Bulgarian Communists. He was with the units of the Bulgarian occupation forces in Nis.

The Section for Internal Affairs is located in Sofia, in the same building as the Main Administration of the militia. The following nine regional sections are subordinate to the Section for Internal Affairs: Burgas, Gorna Dzhumaya /now Blagoevgrad/, Plovdiv, Ruse, Stara Zagora, Shumen /now Kolarov-grad/, Varna /now Stalin/, Vratsa, and Bosilegrad.

The chiefs of these regional sections are officers, most of whom have the rank of Captain First Class. These sections have under their command a certain number of militiamen equipped with armored cars, cavalry, motor vehicles, and heavy and light automatic weapons. Each of these sections has its independent depot from which it is supplied. These depots are supplied from a central depot in Sofia.
